

Now you see it...

Now you don't!

WunderCovers® seamlessly blends any manhole, drain, or utility access cover into surrounding hardscape or landscape, maintaining high-quality design aesthetics and functionality.

What Are WunderCovers?

WunderCovers are recessed-tray manhole, utility, drainage, and access covers that allow matching paving or landscape material to be installed, blending access hatches into their surroundings. Our products include covers for utility access hatches, sump basins, pumps, storm drains, concrete access hatches, septic tanks and drain cleanouts.

WunderCovers are available in a variety of colors and styles and allow for the installation of matching concrete, brick, tile, stone, or landscape. They are available for all load classifications, from pedestrian walkways to airport runways, providing safe and functional solutions that match your design objectives.

We also offer manhole cover lifters and manhole cover safety nets as part of our line of accessories.

Made In U.S.A.

WunderCovers is a Nevada based company that works closely with architects, contractors, and city planners worldwide to meet the growing need for seamless integration of utility and access covers with surrounding hardscape design. We aim to combine beauty and functionality and provide a more elegant alternative for your designs.

With the combination of quality products, unparalleled customer service, and competitive process, our goal is to become the leading supplier in recessed manhole covers, access hatches, and underground utility covers.
